Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-6, 8, 9, 13-15, 17-19, 25-30, 32, 33, 37-39, and 41-43, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Card et al (5877127) in view of Smith et al. (5224546).

Card et al. disclose water (col. 14, line 25), viscosity-producing guar type polymer (col. 8, lines 15-20), boron cross-linking agent (col. 9, lines 10-11), pH adjusting compound (col. 9, lines 21-35), buffer (col. 9, lines 36-52), and suggests decreasing the viscosity after fracturing (col. 14, lines 7-9) but not a delayed cross-link delinker.

Smith et al. teach decreasing, degrading, uncrosslinking, delinking, or breaking a viscous treating polymer in a hydraulic fracturing or gravel packing operation (col. 1, lines 64-68; col. 2, lines 1-2) with a delayed gel breaker (col. 2, line 49).

Art Unit: 3672

It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include a delayed cross-link delinker, as taught by Smith et al. and suggested by Card et al, to the Card et al. composition in order to reduce viscosity to remove the treating fluid (Smith et al., col. 2, lines 11-14).

Claims 21-23 and 45-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Card et al in view of Smith et al. as applied to claims 1 and 25, respectively above, and further in view of McCabe et al. (6024170).

The combination discloses water, viscosity producing polymer, boron cross-linking agent, surfactant (Card et al., col. 14, line 45) and a delayed cross-link delinker but not dodecylbenzene sulfonic acid surfactant.

McCabe et al. present dodecylbenzene sulfonic acid (col. 4, line 43) as a surfactant in a treating fluid.

It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use dodecylbenzene sulfonic acid as a surfactant in the combination composition since it is a well known surfactant in a boron type cross-linking agent containing composition (McCabe et al., col. 4, line 45).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 50-55 are allowed.

Claims 7, 10-12, 16, 20, 24, 31, 34-36, 40, 44, 48, and 49 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Namba et al. (6232273) discuss using polysuccimide or polyaspartic acid in well fluids.
